

Faith .

April 12, 2007 - March 2, 2023

Faith, when you walked into my life as a 7 week old puppy, I promised you I would never abandon you because you were just let out on our street. I have done my best to provide the best food, the best accommodations with long walks at the park, taking you on vacation with us and never leaving you with someone else to care for while we were not at home. I am so sorry that I wasn't able to help you in the end. That nasty cancer got the better of you and it came down to thinking about your comfort that we were forced to make the decision to walk with you to the rainbow bridge and let you go. You looked so confused in the end not knowing what all was going on. I hugged you and kissed you on your head and all over your face. Uncle Harry stayed with you as it was just too hard for me to bare till the very end. I smell you leash and it smells like you. I smell my comforter and it smells like you. I love you so much and even though your physical body is no longer here, I will never stop loving you and I know you are playing with Smackers, Strudels, Muffin, Snoops and Yoda and most of all you are now with Mr. Em. I feel you are with me in spirit and I know you know you were greatly loved and cared for. I love you my baby girl. Mommie will always hold you in my heart and Uncle Harry will greatly miss you. He said to me that he loves you.

Tribute Wall

“ Faith .

October 09, 2023 at 02:11 AM

“ Faith .

October 08, 2023 at 05:29 PM

“ Faith is an absolutely beautiful baby and knows her Mom loved her so so much. Sending sweet condolences to your family

Tasha - March 20, 2023 at 10:32 AM