

Isabella Rose Latney-Crawley

February 14, 2014 - July 12, 2024

We want to tribute to our little girl Isabella Rose (Bella). Bella will be greatly missed here on earth. We know that she is in a better and beautiful place over the rainbow. It is not the same at home. It is quiet and lonely. We were blessed with Bella at six weeks old in 2014 when my son snuck her in his backpack as a friend of his gave to him. I saw her little head pop out; I held her and feel in love with her from first sight. She was so tiny but mighty. She was so intelligent from the start. I put down doggy pads and she knew immediately where to go. Her favorite snacks to eat were, raw carrots, watermelon and peanut butter. She was so small but could eat so much. She was my side kick. I took her everywhere with me. She followed me around the home everywhere to just be near me. She loved car rides and to have the wind blow on her and loved walks. If there was a place that I could not take her, once I was home, she would run to me and bark as if she is talking to me to ask me "where have I been and why I did not take her". If she wanted a snack, she would get my attention and guide me to the pantry or fridge. She would sit at her sister's bedroom door when she had food and wait until she opens the door to go sniff around in hopes that she would give her what she was eating. She loved her brothers, grandma, uncle and dad as well. She always licks her dad's face to show love. Bella is the best and such a sweet little girl. She is definitely my best friend. When she came to her sickness, it was incredibly hard to bare. She was so strong and determined to stay with us, but God called her home because God knows best and did not want her to suffer any longer. I know she is in heaven happy and healthy playing with her fur friends. We miss her so much! She was the light of the house. Her spirit will continue to live on in all of our hearts and we will forever love her and we are so grateful that God allowed us to share her love. Until we see each other again, Bella you are forever our Angel. Mommy loves you
