About 7 years ago, you picked me as I was looking for a kitten to adopt. You sat patiently as I played with another one, and crawled into my lap once it was clear. When I brought you home, you slept on my chest and had the strongest purr I had ever heard in a kitten. A purr that stayed strong your whole life. You saved my life early on, brought more joy and love and laughter than I ever thought a cat could. We moved to TN and back, you hardly complained. You loved open windows, stealing my hair ties, and chattering at birds. You were the best cat, the best fur-son I could ever ask for. Thank you for being mine. I will love you forever, sweet baby. Our lives are forever changed by you.
