I had you since you were 6 weeks old and had to let you go a few weeks shy of your 14th birthday, my sweet girl. I will miss your smiling face and bright eyes each day, your head popping up over the gate inside the home, our morning coffee times, your presence in my office while I'm working and the sound of your toes walking around. I miss that goofy smile you had when running, falling and rolling around on the plastic bottle you stole from me often. I miss your big hugs and your stubborn-ness at times! Miss you sleeping in our bedroom each night. Miss your bark at nothing but the wind! Most of all, I miss holding your head in my hands and giving you hugs and kisses on your wet nose. I love you so much my sweet girl. Love Mommy
