

Super Cooper Karr

August 29, 2009 - February 9, 2023

Cooper was more than just our dog he was our fiercest protector, our tolerant therapist, our truest and most loyal friend. In a world where everyone leaves, he showed us what it meant to stay until he was called home. He reminded us that some hearts will always love us, even when we feel unworthy. He was the first to forgive and the first to forget. He reassured us that our mistakes do not define us and that we are capable and deserving of love even if we are flawed. He was always excited to see us. He knew how to have fun, but also recognized when it was time to console. He licked away our tears before he left us as if to heal our breaking hearts. Cooper was unconditional love, showing us that real love isnt circumstantial. There are no conditions. There are no rules. There is no fine print there is only love. Hold on to your pets, love them fiercely. Because they will show you how to love. Because they truly love you just the way you are.

“ It is often said that cats have 9 lives. Cooper beat cats lives by a bunch. My favorite was him jumping out the second story window and not being injured.
